

W. J. LORING TAKES OPTION ON TOLICHA CLAIMS

LARGEST DEAL IN MONTHS IS IN PROSPECT

Engineer Now Examining Property to Determine Whether Option Will Be Closed

W. J. Loring and associates have taken an option on the landmark Tolicha claim, comprising three claims, known as Tolicha, Landmark and Landmark No. 1, embodying the chief development of the district. The distinguishing feature of the Tolicha group is the existence of three parallel ridges, each of sufficient magnitude to make a mine in itself and all varying high-grade values in gold with a small percentage of silver. The agreement was signed late yesterday afternoon in the office of Harry C. Stiller, who was instrumental in gaining the attention of Mr. Loring.

Tolicha has been the objective of numerous mine operators and their engineers for several years, following the granting of an option in another part of the district to George Wingfield. The camp has the reputation of not eliciting an unfavorable report from any of the numerous engineers who have passed on the merits of the location, and the only reason development has been deferred was due to a conflict of interests that has been definitely disposed of. The Landmark group holds the key to the mineralization of the district, as it is partially opened by means of shallow shafts and a tunnel run to crosscut the three big ledges prospecting on the surface. The option taken by the Loring interests is signed by Ed Yeager, Ed S. Harney, Thomas A. Harney, Nick Ahlemann and Ed Ahlemann, and includes absolute control of the three claims, providing the grantees choose to exercise their option. Charles D. Wilkinson, engineer for the Loring interests, left this morning for Tolicha, where he will examine the ground once more. On this determination will depend the future of the property.

The Landmark group should not be confounded with the ground optioned to George Wingfield, which was prospecting under direction of A. L. D'Arcy, for that work was done on the Life Preserver group, the flat location of the district made by "Jumbo" Yeager, Ed Harney and Pat Jordan. In an effort to prove the claims considerable work was done by the Wingfield engineers, with the result that an adverse report was rendered and the option released. This action was due to the discovery of a fault which cut off the main orebody after running a short distance. Efforts were made to solve the fracture, but the upward baffled all efforts and the Wingfield men retired from the district. This experience might have disheartened others, but it did not destroy the confidence of "Jumbo" and his partners, who remained on the ground endeavoring to pick up the broken vein. Six months later the orebody was recovered half a mile north on the other side of Tolicha mountain, and the Landmark group was located.

WEST MAY GAIN SEVERAL MORE CONGRESSMEN

Census Shows Growth in South and West Proportionately Greater Than in East

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.—An examination of the final census figures of the country indicates that the west and south proportionately gain more in a political way than the east or midwest, through increased membership in the house of representatives. As a result of the increase in population, 50 new seats will be added to the house. Should the present membership of 436 be left unchanged by increasing the basis of apportionment, there will have to be a transfer of 13 seats now held by 12 states to nine other states. For the last half-century the president has been to increase the size of the house to prevent the loss of existing representatives to any state. If this precedent is followed this year, five additional seats must be given California and four each to New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan.

WINTER NOT TO STOP AIR MAIL

(By Associated Press)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 8.—Mail will be carried over the Pacific division of the transcontinental air mail route during the entire winter, Colonel John H. Jordan, acting division superintendent, and chief of construction for the United States aerial mail service, said upon his recent arrival here from San Francisco.

"There may be occasional delay because of storms, but schedules will be followed more closely than on the railroads," he asserted. "The planes on the Atlantic coast were operated last winter virtually without interruption, and I can see no reason why conditions as good or better will not prevail in the intermountain country."

As soon as more machines can be secured from the manufacturers they will be placed on this part of the route so that full service can be maintained. There is a steady growth in the amount of mail being carried by airplane and the southern states are insisting that a route be operated to that region. If congress will appropriate the money I believe such a route will be started and it will be a matter of only four or five years until new routes are formed to other sections of the country.

Mr. Jordan's visit to Salt Lake is to secure improvement of landing facilities. He says the construction of a large hangar here to house mail planes is a possibility.
